Infinity Trademarks

Infinity Trademarks are a set of practices that underpin our values and help us create the magic formula for our collective success.

We want our colleagues and schools to take pride in consistently delivering on our trademarks...

It starts with us! People are at the heart of what we do. Support colleagues; collaborate with other schools, use your time to help - including celebrating the success and achievements of our pupils and staff. It will be reciprocated!

Make children work hard, explain things properly, let children try again, ask brilliant questions, allow children to find the answers, let them know how they are doing and make lessons interesting!

Ensure our whole school environment is welcoming, up to date, tidy, organised, reflects our best and is well maintained. It matters what things look like

Never narrow the curriculum – every subject matters

Remember that dealing with behaviour, welfare and safeguarding is everyone's responsibility. Know the procedure, follow the procedure, seek advice.

Maintain complete consistency in all that we have agreed. If it's not working tell someone don't go rogue!

It's our responsibility to improve and grow as professionals. Make the most of PDM's and CPD opportunities and drive your own learning. Keep your own professional learning log.

Only change procedures, systems and practices when we have researched them and proven that the changes are for the better. Implement new changes gradually.

Respect others and do things like sticking to deadlines! If you're having difficulties speak up & seek help.

Never forget that we are integral to our communities and people look to us and our behaviours. Showing genuine interest, care and respect is at the core of our role.
